THE GOULD LINES DEFER

MEETING OF MISSOURI EXECUTIVES CALLED ON PASSENGER CHARGES.

MORE INFORMATION WANTED ON TOPIC

Adoption of 2 1/2-Cent Basis Flat Would Wipe Out All Mileage, Excursion and Trade Rates, Say the Officials.

St. Louis, Mo., April 20.—The Gould lines have made no announcement as yet concerning the policy they will pursue in regard to the Missouri passenger rates. Vice President C. S. Clarke, of the Missouri Pacific-Iron Mountain, and Vice President J. M. Johnson, in charge of traffic, returned to St. Louis yesterday afternoon and a conference was held with officials of the legal department.

Passenger Traffic Manager Stone said last evening that no conclusion had been reached in the matter. A similar statement was made by General Passenger Agent St. George, of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas. The Wabash operating and traffic officials are out on an inspection tour of the western lines and no official statement has yet been made from St. Louis headquarters. It is understood, however, that the Wabash will meet the action of the Burlington and that the 2 1/2-cent rate will be made effective on the Wabash Missouri line May 1.

A conference of the chief executive officers of the Missouri lines will be held here on Friday, at the request of one of the leading interests for the purpose of settling many questions that have arisen since notice of independent action was given by the Burlington.

Vice President Darius Miller, of that system, in making the announcement from Chicago, stated that the 2 1/2-cent rate would apply as the maximum and minimum basis on the Burlington's Missouri lines. The Rock Island-Frisco announced that the 2 1/2-cent rate would be established on their lines in Missouri and Arkansas. The Cotton Belt intimated that it would take similar action in both states.

Some of the lines before defining their policy want further information as to the terms of the notice given in the first place by the Burlington. The adoption of a maximum and minimum basis of 2 1/2 cents per mile flat would wipe out all mileage book concessions, rates for merchants and excursion rates and all forms of reduced passenger rates, except commutation rates.

To clear away all doubts in regard to the lines taking independent action, it was deemed advisable to call a meeting of executive officers for a discussion of the whole subject in all its bearings on passenger traffic in Missouri. Some interests contend that the 3-cent rate should apply between non-competitive points, but the majority take the position that the adoption of the 2 1/2-cent rate without any concessions is the best solution of the passenger rate problem for all western states.

BURIED BY SIDE OF MOTHER

The Body of Harry Coe Arrives From Pomona, Kansas.

The body of Harry Coe, a former Sedalia, who died at Pomona, Kas., arrived from that point this morning. It was accompanied by deceased's widow, her brother, W. W. Overton, of Kansas City, and Mr. Coe's son, Harry Coe, Jr.

The remains were taken directly to Crown Hill cemetery, where after brief services by the Rev. D. M. Clagett, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian church, interment was made.

BUTLER DIXON'S "JAUNT"

Left the Train at Pleasant Green Instead of Pilot Grove.

W. O. B. Dixon, whose connection with the Pilot Grove bank was announced in Sunday's Democrat-Sentinel, boarded M., K. & T. train No. 2 Monday for Pilot Grove to begin work. "Butler" has not been an extensive traveler of late years and is not familiar with towns along the north end of the M., K. & T. Instead of leaving the train at Pilot Grove, where he was to begin work yesterday morning, Butler alighted from the coach at Pleasant Green—a station six miles this side of Pilot Grove.

He looked for the bank building, but didn't find it. He began inquiring, but to his astonishment found that no one else knew where the Harris bank was. Then it dawned on Butler that he was in the right state, but in the wrong town, so quietly he proceeded to "foot it" to Pilot Grove, reaching there in less than two hours.

Campaign Expenses Filed.
J. E. Nicholson and R. F. Dean, defeated candidates for aldermen in the Third and Fourth wards, respectively, at the recent city election, filed their expense accounts with Recorder Morrey late Monday. The former expended $26.25 in campaigning, while the latter spent $23.25.

A NEW BANK PRESIDENT

DR. W. S. WOODS, OF KANSAS CITY, SELLS INTEREST IN BANK OF COMMERCE.

MAN FROM ST. LOUIS IS HIS SUCCESSOR

Was Chosen Head of Institution Today—End of Great Struggle for Control of the Bank, One of Largest in the West.

Kansas City, April 20.—J. Wilson Perry, of St. Louis, former vice president of the National Bank of Commerce of that city, today purchased the entire interest of Dr. W. S. Woods in the National Bank of Commerce of this city, and was elected president of the institution.

William L. Buehler, of St. Joseph, bank examiner for Missouri, was elected vice president, and Perry and George E. Nicholson, of Iowa, Kan., were elected directors.

This ends a long contest for the control of the bank, which suspended in 1907 with $36,000,000, no one losing a penny. It was reorganized later, with William B. Ridgely, comptroller of the currency, as president. Subsequently Ridgely was ousted when Dr. Woods again secured control.

NOW FOR A BALL TEAM

The Democrat-Sentinel Starts the Subscription List With $25.

The Democrat-Sentinel thinks that Sedalia should have a ball team and earnestly hopes that the efforts being made by Messrs. Leist, Sweeney and Brown to raise sufficient funds to enter the new "Outlaw league" will meet with the success that they deserve, and to demonstrate its genuine interest will donate $25.00 to the fund.

There is no better advertisement for a city than a ball team, a winning one, if possible, but a team, anyway, and that none has been located here for the past few years has really been a detriment to the city.

If all get busy, business men, professional—all kinds of men, who love the great national game, there will be no trouble in raising the sum necessary and putting Sedalia again on the baseball map.

In a league of which our own "Heiny" Leist is president, insuring it being conducted absolutely on the square, and in connection with such towns as Kansas City, St. Joseph and Leavenworth, it would seem as if the advertising inducements, outside of the enjoyment of the sport, would compel everyone to come forward without urging and help push.

Anyway, this paper gladly and without solicitation, starts the list with $25.00.

MANUAL TRAINING EXHIBIT

Will Be Shown on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

A display of the work executed by the pupils of the graded schools of the city in the manual training department will be held in the rooms over Ramsey's Racket, Sixth street and Missouri avenue, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Miss Ethel Snoddy, teacher of that department, will be in charge. The displays will be open to view from 8:30 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. each of those three days.

It is especially urged that all parents and the gentlemen of the city view the exhibits, which are exceedingly interesting.

THE MAN BETWEEN

PASTOR SEEKS A WOMAN

MISSING MAN SAID TO HAVE REMARKED THAT SHE HAD REJECTED HIM.

THE MURDER IDEA HAS BEEN DROPPED

Sister Believes He Departed From St. Louis for Chicago Sunday—Expected That He Will Turn Up All Right in Time.

St. Louis, Mo., April 20.—That the Rev. Robert W. Lessing, who disappeared from Moselle, Mo., Friday, is despondent because his sweetheart refused him, and is now in St. Louis in quest of her is the belief of the members of his church at Moselle.

They say he remarked shortly before leaving Moselle that his girl had failed him, and as he had a commutation ticket between Moselle and St. Louis and came here every other day, it is assumed that she lives in this city.

His friends at Moselle and Pacific, at both of which towns he had pastorates, have abandoned the plan to drag the Meramec river, under the belief that Lessing had been robbed, murdered and his body thrown into that stream.

Mrs. Pauline Godfrey, No. 2704A Olive street, sister of the missing man, said yesterday she had no knowledge of her brother's personal affairs here, and if he had a sweetheart she did not know of her.

The suggestion of suicide is scouted by those at Moselle, who know Lessing very well. While they admit Lessing's mental condition was, they say, disturbed of late, he was too bright and optimistic to take his life. No matter what his troubles might be, it is the belief of Mrs. Godfrey that her brother is in Chicago and that his mind has become affected from overstudy in his ambition to become an ordained minister of the Christian church. She says he is a religious enthusiast and that undoubtedly hard study has affected his mind.

He has many friends in Chicago, the scene of his first missionary efforts, and Mrs. Godfrey thinks a former associate, Charles Purdy, might be able to furnish some enlightenment. She attaches no importance to the murder theory, but credits the statement of Mrs. W. T. Hodge, of the Laclede hotel, who knows Lessing, that she saw him Sunday morning at Union station.

Mrs. Hodge said he had boarded the train she was on coming from St. Clair at Robertsville. At Union station Mrs. Hodge approached Lessing and he repeated his name to her. Lessing is 25 years old. Three years ago he was employed as a copy holder at the Republic. At that time he evinced much ardor for religious subjects. He was educated at the St. Louis public schools. After preaching in Chicago he returned to St. Louis and worked in the slums. He is said to be strong-willed and of high intelligence. He has an uncle who was at one time a United States senator from Mississippi, and another uncle who is a publisher in the same state. He is said to be of the family of Baron Gotthold E. von Lessing, famous German author of the eighteenth century.

DR. MONNISH DRANK ACID

DENIED NEW TRIAL, CHOOSES DEATH IN PREFERENCE TO PRISON.

VERY NOTED CASE AT ATLANTA, GEORGIA

Anticipates Decision Affirming Her Sentence for Sending Improper Letters Through the Mails, So She Suicides.

Atlanta, Ga., April 20.—Dr. Rosa F. Monnish, who was sentenced to one year and one day in the federal prison yesterday for sending threatening and improper letters through the mails, drank prussic acid at her home last afternoon and died within a few minutes.

Dr. Monnish had been in the public eye of the south for several years, because of her troubles with the postal authorities.

She erected a sanitarium in a fashionable neighborhood over the objections of the citizens. Later she had a disagreement with her husband, and out of this marital infelicity grew her trouble with the postal authorities.

She was found guilty recently, but applied for a new trial. Federal Judge Newman overruled the application yesterday.

Mrs. Monnish evidently feared an unfavorable decision, for she left the court room and went direct to her home.

As a physician she would have no difficulty in securing the deadly prussic acid, and it is thought she had the drug in her room for this emergency. She was dead when found. She was 60 years old.

NEGROES MOB A WHITE

POLICE THWART THREATENED LYNCHING OF BARTENDER WHO SHOT BLACK.

GUNS HELD CROWD AT BAY IN ST. LOUIS

Riot Calls Are Sounded—Move to Take Prisoner From Officers Is Blocked by Efficient Work of the Officers.

St. Louis, Mo., April 20.—Two riot calls were turned in at the Dayton street station last night when William Holthaus, white, a bartender in the saloon of Jacob Gest, 2301 Morgan street, was in danger of being lynched by several hundred infuriated negroes, after he had shot William Cunningham, a negro, in the left leg.

Special Officers Hare and Deghan, the only officers in the station when the first call came, rushed to the scene in a patrol wagon. The street was crowded with negroes and the officers were compelled to draw revolvers to get through the crowd.

Cries of "lynch him" and "kill him" were heard on all sides, and, realizing that the two officers were unable to cope with the situation, the patrol wagon driver dashed back to the station. He returned with Lieutenant Thomas Walsh. Before the lieutenant left the wagon Patrolmen Gilreth and McCoy and reached the corner, and, with their revolvers drawn, the lieutenant and the patrolmen dispersed a portion of the crowd and reached the special officers, who had locked Holthaus in a room, in fear that the maddened negroes would attempt to carry out their threats of violence.

About fifty negroes crowded around the patrol wagon when the bartender was brought out of the saloon and became so threatening that Lieutenant Walsh ordered the driver, Tom O'Hare, to charge the crowd with the team.

The trouble in the saloon started when Tom Lewis, a negro, refused to pay for a round of drinks. Lewis, who is also known as "Shine," engaged in an argument with Holthaus, which culminated in an attempt on the part of the bartender to eject the negro. Cunningham, according to the police, interfered and attacked Holthaus with a bottle. The bartender defended himself by shooting Cunningham in the left leg. The wounded man was taken to the City hospital. His condition is not serious. The bartender is a prisoner at the Dayton street station.

Ten Years as City Clerk.

The city council last night elected Charles E. Baker city clerk for the tenth consecutive year. While Mr. Baker is a republican, the Democrat-Sentinel desires to go on record as commending the action of the "city fathers." Not in the city's history has it had a more efficient clerk than "Bake," as the mayor and "dads" affectionately refer to him. In fact, Mr. Baker knows more about the city's affairs than any other one man connected with the municipal government, and his re-election was deserved.

FOR IMMUNITY, $260,000

SAID SMUGGLERS HAVE OFFERED THAT SUM TO HAVE CASE DROPPED.

IT CAUSED THE BAINBRIDGE SUICIDE

Claimed the Gowns and Laces Found in the "Sleeper" Trunk Were Made for Women of Exceptional Prominence.

New York, April 20.—The smuggling syndicate which first offered Collector of the Port Loeb $100,000 to drop the government's investigation of the smuggling of "sleeper" trunks containing $55,000 worth of Paris gowns, has increased its offer to $260,000, according to Mr. Loeb.

"The amount now offered the government to drop the investigation and probable prosecution is $260,000," said Collector Loeb.

"The amount represents what would be penalties of fully $200,000 above the appraised value of the goods. All offers have been refused. We want the smugglers."

It is believed that worry over this case so affected the mind of William B. Bainbridge, confidential agent of the United States treasury department, in charge of the customs bureau in Paris, that he committed suicide.

The treasury department had fully approved Mr. Bainbridge's course in this case, but he left a note declaring that he was the victim of a plot.

Collector Loeb's investigations so far show that the gowns had been made in Paris by famous designers for many women of exceptional social prominence in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Washington, and that the reason for offering such a large sum to suppress the investigation was to shield the women from the unpleasant publicity of the threatened disclosures.

A BANQUET AT WALCH'S

It Was Given by City Clerk Baker and Engineer Leaming.

C. E. Baker, who at last night's meeting of the city council was re-elected city clerk, and Frank Leaming, who at the same session was re-elected city engineer, gave a banquet at Walch's European cafe after the close of the council meeting, which was thoroughly appreciated by all.

Those present were: Mayor J. L. Babcock, J. M. DeJarnette, F. F. Hutton and E. R. Andler, retiring aldermen, the present city council, including the city attorney, W. W. Blain, and the hosts, Messrs. Baker and Leaming.

The menu was sumptuous, and light drinks were served on the side.

Toasts were made by all, including the mayor, but the participants declined to furnish a list for publication.

Departed for the Far West.

Walter Kingsley, accompanied by the two Leslie boys, left last night for Seattle, Wash., to remain. John W. Baldwin, Jr., who was to have accompanied the two, postponed his trip, owing to his mother, who broke down with grief at her son's contemplated departure.

Committee to Meet Tonight.

The executive committee having in charge the home coming celebration in Sedalia the first week in October next will meet at the office of Probate Judge D. E. Kenley at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Every member is urged to be present, as matters of importance are to come up for consideration.

WALL STREET GAMBLING

LOUISIANA LOTTERY IS NOT TO BE COMPARED WITH THE FORMER.

SO DECLARED THE REV. J. B. THOMPSON

General Sherman Said "War Is Hell," but Kansas City Divine Is of the Belief That Gambling Is Far Worse.

Kansas City, Mo., April 20.—After having preached an anti-bridge whist sermon on "Women Who Gamble," Rev. J. B. Thompson, pastor of the Forest Avenue Christian church, Sunday night, at the request of women members of his congregation, turned his denunciative eloquence against "men who gamble."

"Gambling has certainly kept pace with the progress of the country," said the Rev. Mr. Thompson. "Only a few years ago a professional gambler was a marked man. Today some of the most deceptive characters on earth are allowed to pose as gentlemen in good society."

"The most demoralizing curse of the nation today is the monstrous game of chance going on in Wall street. It is a citadel of so-called respectable citizens who ply a criminal livelihood, for they make their money without any value behind it."

"The Louisiana lottery was infinitely unimportant alongside the evils of Wall street. The lottery was played fairly—there were no stacked cards or loaded dice, and it did not imperil the legitimate business interests of the country as does Wall street."

"General Sherman said 'war is hell.' No, gentlemen, it's gambling. May the powers of heaven and earth deliver us from it."

PRIZES FOR TOMATOES

Democrat-Sentinel Offers Bonus for Amateur Sedalia Gardeners.

Sedalia is famous for its amateur tomato growers, one of them last year receiving a medal from Kansas City friends who had sampled some of the product of his garden and wished to testify to their appreciation of it.

There are others whose fame is not quite so wide, but who claim they can beat the "other fellow," and so quite a rivalry has grown up among the growers of what in years gone by was known as the "Love Apple."

The Democrat-Sentinel wants the rivalry to increase to such an extent that Sedalia this season will produce not only the best tomatoes in Missouri, which it undoubtedly does already, but in the entire United States, and so it has decided to offer two prizes for this season's product.

For the first thoroughly ripe and fully developed tomato $2 will be given and for the largest specimen brought into the office before September 1st, $3 will be given.

Competition is open only to amateur gardeners in the city of Sedalia, and contestants to become eligible must register their names and the location of their gardens at the office previous to May 15.

Now let every man in Sedalia who has a garden get busy and try to win one or both of the prizes. No favoritism will be shown in the awards, and no person connected with the paper can contest, although two members of its staff say that they are champion growers themselves. They may win honors, but are barred from the prizes.

WELCOME FOR DR. CARLOS

It Will Be Held at Tillberry's Hall Tomorrow Night.

Fred Williams is chairman of the committee having the affair in charge.

The Rev. Grant Robbins, pastor of the First M. E. church, will deliver an address in behalf of the ministers.

Fred Williams will talk in behalf of the laity, and the Rev. Carlos will deliver the response.

There will be vocal selections by the choir and instrumental numbers by the Epworth cornet band.

Light refreshments will be served at the close.

CRIPPLING THE FIRE FIEND.

The city of Rochester has just been swept by disastrous fires. Flames in widely separated portions of the city broke out almost simultaneously and before they were subdued had destroyed hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of property, and threatened a calamity of monumental proportions.

The department for hours was powerless to cope with the conflagration, which was fanned by a stiff gale. By a strange coincidence, Rochester only a few days previous attracted attention throughout the east by refusing to receive a new armory which had just been completed, on the ground of faulty construction which invited serious consequences from fire. It was alleged by objectors that wood had been used in many ways that contributed to the danger of fire. The incident was commented on at the time as showing how the public is being educated in the matter of fire precaution and indicating a growing watchfulness to prevent the creation of fire traps and buildings which are a menace to lives and property. It seems as though Rochester had a premonition of the disaster that was about to overtake it when it insisted upon one of its public buildings being made more secure against fire.

We are still far from perfection in our protection against fire, notwithstanding the growth of means for fire protection has been rapid of late years. Catastrophes which wipe out large portions of cities still occur from time to time which might have been prevented a dozen years ago by the application of rules which are generally enforced today.

The building business, especially as regards the larger structures, such as those for public purposes, those used for industrial plants, offices, theaters and the like, has practically been revolutionized in the last decade. The employment of steel, iron, stone, concrete, terra cotta and other non-combustible materials have reached a point where the public, as well as the prudent builder, is fully aware of their value and is coming to insist on their use more and more.

As the situation comes to be more fully understood there will be a greater demand for these factors of safety that builders can not resist, old-style construction will be tabooed and there will be rigid exercise of all the laws which have for their purpose the securing of fire proof construction.

THE DANGEROUS RAT.

In a report on the crusade against the bubonic plague in San Francisco, the citizens' health committee recites that "five thousand bacilli of the bubonic plague could harbor in the gizzard of a single flea, and the flea feel just as athletic and enterprising as any other insect."

In such circumstances the difficulties of stamping out the plague where it obtains a foothold may be easily imagined. The flea in question is a parasite of the rat. Finding lodgment in a house, the rat sheds its parasites. They in turn find concealment in rugs, the cracks of the floor or the walls. Their bite infects the victim with the disease.

Rats were killed in San Francisco by crews of rat killers. A systematic war was made against the rodents. And when killed note was taken of the place where they were found. A large force was employed to dissect them. When a rat was found infected with the disease the locality in which the rat was captured was known and the work of eradicating the disease was centered upon it.

The conclusion of the health authorities of San Francisco is that the problem of combating and holding the disease in check is confined to eradicating the rat. The plague is spreading from the far east. It has found lodgment in South America and has appeared on the Pacific coast.

If the war on the bubonic plague should result in the destruction of rats it would be worth while, even where the disease is not present in the rat population. For the rat is without any redeeming features.

AGE NO MARK OF DISCRETION.

New York Police Statistics Prove a Most Lamentable Fact.

A woman shoplifter who had passed the Psalmist's allotted period, and who had a long record of offenses behind her, was sent to prison again the other day, and in the printed accounts much was made of her years, as if age and misdemeanor were strangers. As a matter of fact, among women, youth and misdemeanor are strangers if, we make the test of the matter the fact of falling into the law's clutches.

More than half the women offenders of New York are classified in the report of the state prison commission as "middle-aged or elderly women." Of the 6,644 women sentenced to the Blackwell's Island workhouse during the last year, 3,463 were more than 30 years old. About one in 15 of the number were legal minors. Disorderly conduct and public intoxication accounted for all but a few hundreds of the entire number.

There is really no surprise in these figures, for the spectacle of gray hairs without honor is not unfamiliar in any of our small parks. It would be superfluous to point the moral—and Horace has done it already in his warnings to Lalage and Chloe.

No Drums in the Middle Ages.

As we come to the Middle Ages, when the nations of modern Europe were struggling into existence, we find that at first, the drum was not used at all. So, although melody had been known and practiced for many centuries, rhythm had been quite forgotten. For what there is left to us of the music of the Middle Ages contains no bars, and we know that it was slowly and monotonously chanted, without the least accent.

In the eleventh century, however, things began to improve, more particularly as the Crusaders brought into Europe all sorts of percussion instru-

How Ono Got His Name.

"An example of a curious Christian name may be found," says a correspondent, "nearer your offices than most of the cases you have printed. The facts are these. The father of a boy baby wished him to be christened Thomas. The mother favored the name of Robert. When they arrived at the church the matter was still undecided. The father informed the curate that the child's name was Thomas.

"Oh, no!" gasped the mother distressfully. "The curate regarding the woman as the ruling spirit promptly baptized the infant Ono.

KILLS TWO AND THEN SELF

Minnesotan Slays Sweetheart and Baby Because She Left Him.

Red Wing, Minn., April 20.—Freda Tangen, 28, and her 2-year-old baby were murdered by Ole O. Odden, jr., of Minneola, who closed the tragedy by sending a bullet crashing through his own brain Saturday night. He died.

Odden was enraged because the girl, to whom he was engaged, was about to go to Minneapolis to be employed as a domestic, and where her sister, Miss Hanna Tangen, lives.

Odden met the woman and opened fire. She picked up her baby and started across a field. One of the bullets struck her in the neck and she fell dead in the village graveyard. Odden then shot the baby between the eyes.

WAS SHOT BY "HOLD-UPPER"

Man Wounded by Thieves Who Attempt Robbery.

Danville, Ill., April 20.—Under the shadows of Speaker Joe Cannon's residence on North Vermillion street, one of the most frequented thoroughfares in Danville, two men held up and shot W. R. Roberts, a prominent race horse man of this city.

Roberts lies in a hospital in a very serious condition. He and a friend met two men, who commanded them to throw up their hands. Roberts refused and made a run. One of them fired two shots, one taking effect in Roberts' abdomen.

Two men were apprehended in the Big Four station as they were preparing to leave the city.

Stupid Remark Made Trouble.

A Paris police station was invaded the other day by a young lady, an old gentleman, a small dog and the conductor and 24 passengers of an omnibus. The old man had been sitting next to the young lady, who had the small dog in her muff. "I would give half my fortune," he said, "to be in your little dog's place." "It would be the right place for you," said the lady, "for I am taking him to have his ears cropped." Her reply led to high words, and the passengers joined in, a free fight ensued, and the entire party went to the police station, where all the names, including that of the dog, were duly noted. The omnibus had to wait for its conductor, and arrived at its destination two hours late.

Finds a Friend in Court.

Justice Harlan of the supreme court was on circuit in West Virginia some years ago when there was tried before him a case in which principal counsel was a lawyer whose head was quite devoid of hair.

The day was cold and damp and the room in which the sitting was had been badly heated. It was not long before counsel had begun his argument that he said:

"Your honor, I must pause long enough to request that the window opposite be closed more tightly. I feel the draft on my head."

"The court sympathizes with you," solemnly assented Mr. Harlan. "The court has the same kind of a head."

During Gun Firing.

The British admiralty has given attention to the question of ear protection during heavy gun firing, and it has been decided to use plasticine with the addition of cotton wool, but the form of ear protection to be used is to be left to the individual choice of officers and men. Plasticine may be supplied to ships and gunnery schools if specially demanded. The addition of 50 to 60 grains of cotton wool has been recommended to insure perfect safety. It is pointed out that the cost of the material is very small and its use is often desirable.

A SLAUGHTER OF WOLVES

Montrose Man Makes Big Killing of Pests.

John Brown, a farmer living southwest of Montrose, brought in the pelts of sixteen wolves which he killed in a den on his farm less than half a mile from his house, says the Clinton Democrat.

In bringing in such large family, Mr. Brown did a good day's work, as the bounty on wolves in Henry county is $3 per head.

W. W. Webb, of Davis township, also brought in three scalps today, and last Thursday eight were brought in by R. C. Armstrong, of Davis township.

Too Dangerous.

Old Aunt Hepsy Garside never had seen a moving-picture show before. She gazed in speechless wonder at the magic contrivance by which messenger boys were made to move with breakneck speed, barbers to shave their customers in less than a minute, and heavy policemen to dash along the street at a rate never attained by a living specimen, either on or off duty.

It was all real to her. She could not doubt the evidence of her senses. All those things were taking place exactly as depicted.

Presently an automobile came in sight in the far background, moving directly toward the audience at the rate of at least a mile a minute. Just as a catastrophe seemed inevitable, it swerved aside, passed on, and disappeared.

Aunt Hepsy could stand it no longer. Hastily grasping the hand of her little niece, she rose and started swiftly for the door.

"Come along, Minervy!" she said. "It ain't safe to stay here any longer! That thing didn't miss me more than two feet!"—Youth's Companion.

Queer Furs.

"This is cat fur," said the furrier. "We use it for linings. An excellent lining cat fur makes, too. Dogs, calves, colts, coons, opossums, bats, rats, any animal that wears fur, in fact, is salable in the fur market. Bat hair is felted up with other stuff into an imitation skin. It is also used, I believe, in rope plaiting. The dog, the coon, and the opossum yield a fur that, properly treated, makes a very handsome lining. Rat skins are employed in certain delicate repairs, and they also serve to form the thumbs of cheap gloves. A queer thing about the fur business is that the furs must be taken in the dead of winter; the trapper must work under the cruelest climatic conditions; only thus is the fur at its best. The dresser, on the other hand, who could work best in cold weather, must do all his work in the heat of summer, or otherwise he would not be able to keep up with the changing fashions."

Home Life in Spain.

No hospitality can be more wholehearted and far-reaching than that which Mrs. Ellen Maury Slayden and her husband enjoyed in Barcelona, and of which she has written for the Century.

"One of the prettiest things in home life all over Spain," she says, "is the natural and kindly way in which the servants are made a part of the family. In the don's house the little maids often took part in the conversation, spoke to the guests, and asked them to stay longer; and even the porters and kitchen visitors popped their red-capped heads into the door to say the Spanish equivalent for 'howdy' to the family, just as old negroes do in the southern states."

LESS BREAD NOW EATEN

SMALLER LOAVES AND SCANT PROFIT FOR THE BAKERS AND MILLERS.

RESULTS OF THE PATTEN WHEAT DEAL

Governors of Western States Aroused By the Systematized Traffic in Girls for Brothels in the Large Cities.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel. Chicago, April 20.—Less bread consumed, smaller loaves and scant profits for the bakers and millers are among the results of the Patten wheat deal that has netted his pool $4,000,000 to $5,000,000. Meanwhile small bakers have been obliged to suspend business, big bakers are selling shortweight loaves at an actual loss, and the millers have resorted to unheard of methods of premium offers to stimulate the sales of flour, the trade in which threatens to become absolutely stagnant.

Whether the Patten deal was made possible by a "corner" or a scarcity of wheat has brought out comment by Jas. J. Hill and Secretary Wilson of greatest interest.

"A few years ago," said Mr. Hill, "I made a speech in the west containing some prophecies that soon may be realized. I directed attention to the fact that while the population of the United States had increased 65 per cent production of the foodstuffs had increased only 25 per cent. We now are buying barley from Argentina. The time is not so far distant when we will be importing wheat. High prices for wheat will continue. The price of that commodity will never go to the low figures that obtained in former years in this country."

Secretary Wilson said: "To successfully corner the wheat market you have got to keep buying and buying. Finally the time comes when you can't buy any more and then there is a smash." He said the only successful wheat corner he ever heard of was the one effected by Joseph in biblical days.

The discovery of a wholesale, systematized traffic in girls for brothels of the cities has aroused governors of western and southern states to emergency action more generally than those of the east, judging by their letters to the committee on legislation which was appointed by the Woman's World to organize the fight against the traffic.

The need and the line of attack found most effective have been presented to all, but replies from executives of Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts and New York do not give assurance of any prompt remedial measure.

On the other hand Governor Vessey, of South Dakota, included the "white slave traffic" among the subjects mentioned in his message and Governor Carroll, of Iowa, has caused an investigation to be made of the statutes to see what new law is needed. Governor Comer wrote:

"I will be glad to embody this matter in my final message and extend to my successor a recommendation to join with other states in making such traffic impossible." Governors of Michigan, Kentucky, Tennessee, Idaho, Mississippi, Louisiana and other states have taken definite steps but in the east the governors of Maine, New York, Vermont, Delaware and Massachusetts have not yet made more than a perfunctory response. Bills now pending in Minnesota and Illinois promise the most effective state law under which the white slaves can be punished, but a new federal statute is being pushed forward with all possible diligence, the recent decision of the United States supreme court against the immigration law being a serious blow to activity by the federal prosecutors.

The spring tide of emigration to the new farmlands of the west and Canada is now in full swing and the railroads out of Chicago report that their facilities are taxed to the utmost carrying the colonists and their goods. The movement to Canada is particularly heavy this year and bids fair to break all records. Immigration officers at points along the border report double the number of homeseekers as this time last year and name 70,000 as the probable total for the present season. Hundreds of carloads of household goods are crossing the international line, destined for points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. What this means to Canada, and to the country which they are leaving, has been figured in dollars and cents by the dominion government, which places the value of a year's influx from the states at the enormous figure of $100,000,000—the computed wealth of the newcomers in cash and possessions.

A great reason for the unusual size of the movement this year is the present wave of railroad building in Western Canada, which is opening up thousands of acres of fertile wheat-land every year. The Grand Trunk Pacific, the new national transcontinental, is rushing the work on its line between ocean and ocean, much of which is now completed, and it is already planning and building branch lines in the prairie provinces. The Canadian Northern, likewise, has decided to build to the coast, making Vancouver its western terminus. Only last year this road completed its short line to Duluth, giving the wheat of Western Canada a new outlet to the Great Lakes.

The Canadian Pacific, the oldest road, has built new lines into Saskatchewan and west toward Edmonton and the Rockies and new construction to the cost of $5,000,000 has recently been authorized in Alberta alone. Much of the land along these new extensions is virgin soil and thousands of emigrants from England and from Ontario and Quebec are joining those from the United States in settling up the new provinces. At present it is estimated that half a million persons from this country have crossed the line and taken up new homes in Canada in the last five years. The increase this year has already been so great that the Canadian government has been obliged to provide new "immigration halls" at Sedgewick, Moose Jaw, Phillips and other places in western territory to take care of the newcomers. A steady movement is noted every week from Chicago to new lands in the western states, but not to such an extent as to Canada.

The export grain trade's recent requirements that oats for the foreigner be sulphurized, "bleached," has brought about an investigation by experts of the United States agricultural department into the methods of sulphurizing which have resulted in the important discovery that if barley is properly bleached its germinating strength does not suffer.

Inspection of existing bleaching plants now is being completed, surprise being expressed that there are so few in use even in the larger cities notwithstanding the wide margin of profit in changing dark, dingy oats into oats not only better but that will pass muster in a grade several cents higher up in the price scale.

The result, it is said, is quite as miraculous as those with one's last summer straw hat that returns about as good as new. The report will show that thoroughly sulphurized grain gains most from the effect of accumulated fumes as it lies in the bins afterward, the injury complained of being due to the crude methods in use, now being displaced by the Arnold discoveries regarding the nature of sulphur fumes and the means to employ them.

The elevators in seaboard cities are installing enormous plants for treating grain, both for bleaching it and drying it to meet the export requirements.

CURE FOLLOWED YEAR OF AGONY

Intense Itching Eczema Drove Him Nearly to Despair—Chief Surgeon of a London Hospital Called It Worst Case He Had Ever Seen—Got Little or No Relief Until

CUTICURA STOPPED HIS UNBEARABLE TORTURE

"About four years ago, in London, I was troubled by a severe itching and dry, scaly eruption of the skin. I did so and was an out-patient for a month or more, the chief surgeon saying: 'I never saw such a bad case of eczema.' But I got little or no relief. Then I tried many so-called remedies, but I became so bad that I almost gave up in despair. On coming to this country I heard so many accounts of cures by Cuticura Remedies that I resolved, as a last resource, to give them a trial. This was after suffering agonies for twelve months, and right glad am I that I did so, for I was relieved of the almost unbearable itching after two or three applications of Cuticura Ointment. I continued its use combined with a liberal use of Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Resolvent Pills and am more than thankful to say that after using three boxes of the Remedies I was completely cured. I can only add that, should any one be suffering as I did, I hope that they will do as I did, and I am sure of the results. Henry Searle, 2022 Cross St., Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 8 and 10, 1907."

"THE STORE THAT UNDERSELLS"

COR. 4TH AND OHIO ST., SEDALIA, MO.

banks in the United States was brought home to the chairman of the American Bankers' association's campaign of hostility, Lucius Teter, when during an address by him in Chicago the audience brought him to a full stop by its questions. The questions continued in such a volley that he couldn't resume the thread of his set discourse, which includes eulogy of bankers as philanthropists.

His questioners embarrassed Mr. Teter by inquiring why he should oppose a measure that makes for the safety for banks in general in times of stringency as well as security for depositors. One bank failure after another was brought up as illustration and things grew lively, notwithstanding the audience was composed of business men, Mr. Teter's neighbors, and not of "socialists," as Mr. Teter has said all advocates of postal savings banks necessarily must be.

Mr. Teter said that the postal savings plank in the republican platform in the last national campaign was put in very hurriedly and by men who knew nothing about it, that its purpose was merely to offset the advocacy of the guaranty bank system by Mr. Bryan. He declared that the "popular sound" of the postal savings bank is the cause of its support by the people. However, the Postal Savings Bank League of the United States is preparing with confidence to renew its agitation and pressure upon congressmen for enactment of the Carter bill as now amended at the next session of congress.

The "doughnut" legislation that is a by-product of the Illinois senatorial deadlock along with the "pure cabbage bill," promises much for humanity that humanity never had before. The bill requiring that 98 per cent of cabbage seeds must bear, thus at once relieving the sinner kraut industry of its hazards, held the spotlight until the doughnut bill was proudly presented during a day of ennui. This is a happy inspiration to make domestic or commercial sinkers more wholesome by providing that instead of one hole there shall be two in Illinois doughnuts.

It is expected that the condition of lunch counter diners will be ameliorated at least 50 per cent by this upset to conventional ideas that a doughnut can have one hole. Much has been accomplished during the rush of active legislation and unless some solution to the senatorial problem is reached the legislature is expected, not to adjourn, but to take a "recess," thus avoiding the call and mandates of the governor if he called a special session. Meanwhile the perennial measure aimed at the Pullman company's upper berths and the doughnuts, food and cabbage seed have full consideration.

a number of Sunday school workers in Pettis county are expected to be present.

"Old Line" Insurance.

Before taking out life insurance with any other "old line" company, be sure and investigate my proposition, which is the best to be offered consistent with safety. The Kansas City Life Insurance company, which I represent, guarantees where others only promise. I will be glad to call and explain to you in detail. I also write fire and tornado insurance at the lowest rates in strong companies.—W. H. Gibbons, Third National bank building.

Mr. Poultryman--

LOOK OUT FOR THE LICE

You'll have to keep your eyes open or lice will get the best of you. Your hens can't lay if their days and nights are made miserable fighting for existence against lice and mites. You must exterminate these pests or your poultry profits will all be losses. LEE'S LICE KILLER comes to your rescue. It will kill every louse and mite in your poultry house. Simply spray it on the roosts and nests, and watch the lice and mites quit business—it kills them by contact and vapor. No dusting, dipping or greasing so necessary with other preparations. Business of Ghost Eradicator Not in Very Flourishing Condition.

These are the days of the specialist in all things and it is not surprising to read of a gentleman who describes himself as "The Original Haunted House Restorer and Ghost Eradicator." Nor is it astonishing to find that he complains of slowness of trade. A ghost, if it be a well authenticated and respectable ghost, represents an asset and these are days when property owners do not willingly sacrifice assets. Moreover, a well established family ghost with a history of generations has a title to regard himself as a vested interest and entitled to all compensation for disturbance, says the Westminster (Eng.) Gazette. If there were any real prosperity in this trade of ghost banisher we should have to counteract its destructive power by a great league and covenant of all the printers of Christmas stories, of the amateurs of the occult and the scientific searchers after a spirit world. For all these the ghost is an essential to continued existence. Banish the spook and their occupation would be gone, and John Burns would be invaded by an army of psychical researchers out of work and demanding special treatment in the forthcoming legislation of the government.

SAW GROWTH OF DISPOSITION.

All That Good-Natured Man Was Willing to Admit.

There is an extremely good-natured Yankee merchant near Southampton, Mass., who has for years sustained the burden of "looking out" for an invalid cousin, a man whose infirmities of temper have increased in direct ratio to his bodily ailments. One day a neighbor had overheard the cousin's entirely unwarranted reprimands as to the manner in which he was being taken care of, reprimands that had been met with perfect equanimity by the long-suffering merchant.

The neighbor was indignant. "Why on earth, Bill," he asked, "do you allow that old codger to abuse you so, you who are so good to him? He's getting worse and worse."

"Well," said the good-natured man, "I suppose Tom's troubles make him a trifle cross at times. Though," he added, apparently against his will, "I must say that recently I've thought Tom was increasing a little in his disposition."—Illustrated Sunday Magazine.

CHORE BOY IS AFFINITY

KANSAS WIFE ARRESTED AND FINED AT EXCELSIOR SPRINGS, MO.

HUSBAND WENT ON ROAD AS SALESMAN

He Hired a 15-Year-Old Boy to Remain With His Wife, and It Was Not Long Until She Became Infatuated With Lad.

Excelsior Springs, Mo., April 20.—L. R. Johnson owns a farm near Grain Valley, Kas. Recently he took a position as traveling salesman for a wholesale drug house, so he hired Gerald Hawkins, 15 years old, to do the chores while he was away and be company for his wife and 4-year-old son.

Returning home not long ago, Johnson believed that he detected an undue amount of affection between his wife and the chore boy. So he discharged the boy. Mrs. Johnson told him that if the boy went she would go. She did, taking her little son with her.

Last week Johnson came to Excelsior Springs and discovered his wife and Gerald Hawkins in a picture show. The next day he found out where they were living and had them arrested.

In Justice Cravens' court room Mrs. Johnson insisted that Gerald Hawkins was simply living in her home as a boarder. Admissions were wrung from him, however, and questions put to the baby brought convincing answers.

Justice Cravens fined Mrs. Johnson and the boy $10 each, and she paid both fines. The two then left Excelsior Springs.

Johnson says he will bring suit for divorce and for the custody of his child. Mrs. Johnson already has a divorce suit pending.

The old single strand wires will be removed and a new cable will take their place. The route will no doubt be changed, and, instead of following Main street to Ohio, the Missouri Pacific right of way will be used, looping from the tracks to the uptown office. It will take several weeks to do the work.

FOR "LOVERS' FAIR"

MAIDS OF LUXEMBURG ARE ALREADY PREPARING.

On the First Thursday in December the Great Event, with its Old-Time Customs and Ceremonies, Takes Place.

Although the happy day is still some months away, the fair maids of Luxemburg who have not yet been fortunate enough to secure a husband, have begun to prepare for "Lovers' fair." New dresses are being made, old ones repaired, and all the subtle arts known to womankind the world over are being brought to bear upon the problem of making the unattached daughters of the household irresistible in the eyes of the eligible young men.

Every year on the first Thursday in December, the peasants of this hilly province flock into its chief town, Arlon, in char-a-bancs, cars and every other description of vehicle in order to attend the curious ceremony. The young people strike up acquaintance, while their parents exchange confidences as to the possibility of a match. The young men, who invariably are dressed in their best black clothes, offer presents to the girls of their choice and even go so far as to claim a formal engagement. These operations take place openly in streets, in houses of refreshment and in the public gardens.

All this, however, is but a preliminary and of but slight interest compared with what follows. If two young folks become mutually attached at this "fair," the respective families apply to a marriage broker, or, as he is called, "a holy man." This person becomes the honored guest in the house of the parents of both contracting parties. He makes himself acquainted with their exact social position, their habits of life, their tastes; transmits these details to the "other side," indicates how housekeeping may best be started on the given conditions; in short, he "fixes up" the marriage. These brokers or holy men are generally counted as first-rate trenchmen and wine swallows. All the same they are held in considerable esteem by the two families, at whose table they are accorded the place of honor.

A month later—that is to say, on the first Thursday in the New Year—there is a second "fair" at Arlon. Here the lovers formally plight their troth, the families give their mutual consent to the union, and the broker receives his remuneration—consisting of a commission on the amount of the dowry, and, in accordance with an ancient custom, a pair of top boots and a top hat.

A Common Delinquent.

The dean of a normal college, in a talk before the student body, was deploring the practice common among children of getting help in their lessons, and the tendency among parents to give it too generously. As an illustration he told the following incident: The mother of a small pupil in a Chicago school had struggled through the problems assigned for the child's next lesson, and had finally obtained what appeared to be satisfactory results. The next day, when the little girl returned from school, the mother inquired with some curiosity: "Were your problems correct, dear?" "No, mamma," replied the child. "They were all wrong." "All wrong?" repeated the amazed parent. "Oh, I'm so sorry!" "Well, mamma, you don't need to be sorry," was the reply. "All the other mamas had theirs wrong, too."—Youth's Companion.

Found the Proper Head.

A bright girl in a large school applied to her teacher for leave to be absent half a day, on a plea that her mother had received a telegram which stated that company was on the way. "It's my father's half sister and her three boys," said the pupil, anxiously. "and mother doesn't so how she can do without me, because those boys always act so dreadfully." The teacher referred her to the printed list of reasons which justified absence, and asked if her case came under any of them. "I think it might come under this head, Miss Rules," said the girl, pointing, as she spoke to the words "Domestic affliction."

Not Supposed to See or Know.

On the relief train that had been rushed to the scene of the railway wreck was a newspaper reporter, remarks the Chicago Tribune. The first victim he saw was a man whose eyes were in mourning and whose left arm was in a sling. With his hair full of dirt, one end of his shirt collar flying loose, and his coat sitting up the back, the victim was rapping the land-scape and serenely contemplating the landscape. "How many people are hurt?" asked the reporter, hurrying up to him. "I haven't heard of anybody being hurt, young man," said the other. "How did this wreck happen?" "I haven't heard of any wreck." "You haven't? Who are you, anyhow?" "I don't know that it's any of your business, but I'm the claim agent of the road."

JUDGE FELS A "TOUGH"

CHIEF JUSTICE OF CALIFORNIA SUPREME COURT ENFORCES LAW.

DID NOT REVEAL IDENTITY AT THE TIME

Sees Man Talking to Motorman, Which Is Against Ordinance—Remonstrates, Is Insulted, Knocks Man Down.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 20.—Chief Justice Beatty, of the supreme court, who is here for the April term, did a little law enforcing last afternoon on a Pasadena car.

He saw a tough looking citizen talking to the motorman. The copy of the ordinance over the motorman's head forbade that act. The car was running at a high rate of speed.

"Excuse me," said the justice; "you are breaking the law. You must not talk to the motorman."

"Go to hell," was the prompt reply. "But I insist," said the mild justice. "If you wasn't gray-headed I'd knock your block off."

"Forget the gray hairs and try it," said the justice, his fighting blood aroused.

The tough drew back as if to strike, but the justice knocked him down quickly. The conductor rushed up and the motorman stopped the car.

"Here, what does this mean?" exclaimed the conductor.

"This man was breaking the law by talking to the motorman," replied the chief justice, "and I stopped him."

Then handing his card to the conductor, he added:

"I appoint you an officer of the law; arrest that man or eject him from the car."

The conductor acted promptly and thrust the offender from the car. The tough's jaw dropped.

"Who is he?" The conductor showed the card. "Say, yer honor, if yer will let me ride, I won't talk to no one."

He rode.

DUELS AMONG SUDANESE ARABS.

Where Pastoral Life Doesn't Always Lead to Peace and Quiet.

The country to the southeast of Tekar, in Africa, is the home of the Hasas; the Hadendos occupy the khors to the south and the plateau to the southwest. Both of these are black Arabs, speaking different languages.

The Hasas live almost entirely on sour milk, while the Hadendos are agricultural as well as pastoral. Their dokhn and durra, milletlike grains, were ripening in February and being protected from countless swarms of small birds by men who stood on elevated platforms, from which they cracked loudly large whips with palm leaf lashes 20 feet long.

The dress of these Arabs is a cotton sheet held in by a belt in which they carry crooked knives. For other weapons they use sticks, spears and swords. Firearms are prohibited. Judging by the many scars borne by the men the pastoral life is by no means so peaceful as the poets would lead us to think. Many of the scars come from duels, in which the men cut each other alternately in the back till one cries "Enough!"

LIQUOR CASE IS REVERSED

Technical Error Ends the Gentry County Case.

Kansas City, Mo., April 20.—The conviction of Preston W. Bush for violating the local option law of Gentry county, Mo., was reversed yesterday by the Kansas city court of appeals because the prosecuting attorney failed to prove "technically" that the crime was committed in Gentry county. That is what lawyers call a failure to prove venue.

The trial judge, the jurors, the prosecuting attorney, the witnesses, the defendant and the defendant's lawyers all knew that the crime was committed in Gentry county. There was no contention about it whatever. But the state's attorney failed to prove it formally and the appellate court decided that it was a fatal error. The case was reversed and not remanded.

THE ONLY WAY

Many Sedalia Citizens Have Discovered It.

Just what to do when the kidneys are affected is a question that concerns both young and old. Weak kidneys neglected in childhood lead to life-long suffering. People of advanced years, with less vitality, suffer doubly. In youth or age, languor, backache, urinary irregularity, dizziness and nervousness make life a burden.

There is one remedy that acts directly on the kidneys and cures these troubles. Doan's Kidney Pills owe their world-wide fame to the fact that they cure sick kidneys and cure them permanently. Follow the example of this Sedalia citizen and you will be convinced that this is so.

Jos. Adams, 417 West Fifth street, Sedalia, Mo., says: "For some time I was afflicted with kidney and bladder complaints. I was unable to sleep well and felt tired and worn out nearly all the time. Changeable weather seemed to have a bad effect on my trouble. Hearing of Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at Bard's drug store and was helped promptly. I continued until I was rid of every sign of kidney complaint." (Statement given in 1906.)

A Lasting Effect.

On October 15, 1908, Mr. Adams said: "My health has been remarkably good since Doan's Kidney Pills cured me and I gladly give them my re-endorsement."

WAS NO PLACE TO LINGER IN.

Farm Hand's Isle of Refuge Already Had a Tenant.

Prof. A. L. Lowell, the new president of Harvard, paused in one of his recent lectures and smiled. "That governmental difficulty," he said, "was great—as great as the difficulty of Lincoln's farm hand."

"Two farm hands, Lincoln used to say, were set upon by a huge bull while crossing a rocky field. One man, to gain a tree. The other took refuge in a hole that proved to have an exit in the rear."

"The man who had chosen the hole was out at the other. With a bellow the bull made for him. He turned and again shot like lightning through the hole. The bull once more bore down upon him, and once more he was in and out of his hole."

"This strange pursuit kept up some ten minutes or more. At first it mystified the farm hand in the tree. Then it angered him."

"Hey," he shouted, "ye danged nincompoop, why don't ye stay in the hole?"

"The bull was dashing from one end of the hole to the other at great speed, and the man was bobbing in and out desperately. He heard, however, his comrade's shout and found time before his next brief disappearance to shout back:

"Danged nincompoop yourself! There's a bear in the hole!"—Chicago Journal.

RETAIN LONGING FOR ROMANCE.

Frequent Cause of Tragedy in the Life of a Woman.

It is because women are always striving to keep love at some emotional height, while men, after a few years of marriage, are quite content to let romance die out and settle down to a placid, comfortable, humdrum existence, writes Mildred Herbert Usher in the Red Book.

How often does one see a woman past her first youth, and yet with her insatiable longing for romance still strong within her striving with all her arts and wiles to make of her stolid, prosaic, middle-aged husband an ardent, romantic lover. Usually the man is blandly unconscious of her efforts; or at most mildly wonders why Mary after all these years, could not take his love for granted and not insist on being constantly told of it.

And there lies the tragedy of most women's lives. They want to be told—constantly, repeatedly told that they are loved. They can never be reconciled to taking it for granted. However faithful and devoted they may know their husbands are at heart, they want it in words. They want, through all their married life, all the little love phrases and tender attentions of their honeymoons. And not one woman in ten thousand gets them! Yet with what pitiful persistency they keep on wanting!

LAST OF THE MEDICINE MEN.

Hut-cho-nu-pah Had Long Been a Power Among the Indians.

Hut-cho-nu-pah, last of the medicine men, died last month in the Snake hills of the Creek nation. He was 95 years old. For half a century he had been one of the most turbulent spirits in Oklahoma.

Hut-cho-nu-pah led the last rebellion of the Creeks in 1890. His faction was subdued by the Creeks themselves before the United States troops got there. In a battle Hut-cho-nu-pah's band was annihilated and he was condemned to death.

But so great was the awe in which the old medicine man was held that no one could be found to be his executioner. With his adherents dead and himself imprisoned, his influence was so potent that he compelled the election of a friend as chief and was pardoned.

The medicine man fought for the northern forces during the civil war. He always asserted that he was under the special protection of the Supreme Being—Indian's Friend.

WORK OF THE SECRET SERVICE.

How Makers of Bogus Money Are Run Down in the End.

After a counterfeit is detected a description of it is widely circulated through the newspapers whose subscribers are chiefly bankers and cashiers, and then the service begins the work of discovering the makers and circulators of the bogus money. Sometimes the paper used by the counterfeiter may afford the clue which leads to his undoing; sometimes purchases of the peculiar shade of green ink that is used in the printing of the backs of the notes may be traced, for the legitimate users of these materials are all known in the trade and outsiders, who purchase such things are apt to be remembered by the salesmen who keep in constant touch with the agents of the service. It has happened that information from these sources has led to the discovery of a counterfeiting plot before a single note has been issued, but this is a rare bit of good fortune. Later on there came the photo-mechanical processes where the camera was employed to lay the pattern down on a metal plate and etching fluid took the place of the engraver. Inasmuch as camera and acid lack individuality the difficulty of identifying the engraver was increased tremendously. There are thousands of photo-engraving establishments in the country, each one of which is completely equipped with the apparatus and materials needed in the making of a counterfeit, and yet you can count in the fingers of one hand the cases where the equipment and technical skill of those places have been used illegitimately. And that, I think, is a pretty fine tribute to the innate honesty of the craft; at any rate, it goes a long way in sustaining one's faith in human nature.—Secrets of the Secret Service, in National Magazine.

Do You Feel This Way?

Do you feel all tired out? Do you sometimes think you just can't work away at your profession or trade any longer? Do you have a poor appetite, and lay awake at nights unable to sleep? Are your nerves all gone, and your stomach too? Has ambition to forge ahead in the world left you? If so, you might as well put a stop to your misery. You can do it if you will. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will make you a different individual. It will set your lazy liver to work. It will set things right in your stomach, and your appetite will come back. It will purify your blood. If there is any tendency in your family toward consumption, it will keep that dread destroyer away. Even after consumption has almost gained a foothold in the form of a lingering cough, bronchitis, or bleeding at the lungs, it will bring about a cure in 98 per cent. of all cases. It is a remedy prepared by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., whose advice is given free to all who wish to write him. His great success has come from his wide experience and varied practice. Don't be wheedled by a penny-grabbing dealer into taking inferior substitutes for Dr. Pierce's medicines, recommended to be "just as good." Dr. Pierce's medicines are of known composition. COSTLY ENGLISH LAW ROBES.

The Wardrobe of a Judge Costs Considerably Over $2,500.

An English judge's outfit in the way of robes imposes a heavy tax upon the newly-appointed judge, although the cost is not nearly so great as it was in the early days of Queen Victoria.

Then it was the custom for the law luminaries to attend court functions in figured damask silk gowns, with costly lace bands and ruffles. Thesiger, a celebrated legal dignitary of that day,
is said, on one occasion, to have spent $500 on bands alone.

The lord chancellor's robes cost something like $750, and even a judge's stockings are an expensive item.

The wardrobe of a judge costs anything from $2,500 to $3,000, and if the newly-fledged "my lord" is attached to the king's bench division he will require five gowns, a girdle, a scarf, a casting-hood, a black cap, a three-cornered cap, a leather hat, a cocked hat, a silk hat, lace bands, and two full court suits, swords, etc., to keep up the majesty of the law.

Prior to the reign of George III nearly all professional men wore wigs of some sort, but the custom fell into disuse, and the bench and bar alone now stick to the conservative peruke.

Not many years ago Mr. Justice Kekewich positively refused to hear a barrister who was attired in a gray suit.

Another well-known barrister was quite recently pleading before Mr. Justice Darling, who has a keen sense of humor. The barrister, who wore a sporting waistcoat of a loud type, was suffering from such a severe cold that it affected his voice; he, however, did his best to speak clearly, when Mr.
Justice Darling broke in with:

"Excuse me, but owing to your voice being so weak and your waistcoat being so loud, unless you try and overcome the loudness of your waistcoat by putting a little more force into your voice, I am afraid I shall not be able to hear a word you say."—Stray

TAKES ISSUE WITH TAFT

SENATOR W. J. STONE, OF MIS-SOURI, SPOKE ON "THE TARIFF" TODAY.

HE OBJECTS TO OUR PHILIPPINE POLICY

Urges Withdrawal of United States
From the Islands—Wants Filipinos to Have Free Trade
With This Country.

Washington, April 20.—Taking issue squarely with President Taft on the latter's Philippine policy, Senator Stone, of Missouri, in a carefully prepared speech delivered in the senate today on the subject of the tariff, urged the withdrawal of the United States from the islands within a period of fifteen years pending which the people of those islands should enjoy all the benefits of a legitimate free trade with this country.

In the form of an amendment Mr.
Stone proposed to strike out section 5 of the Aldrich-Payne tariff bill and to substitute therefor a provision declaring it to be the policy of the United States to grant independence to the islands whenever they have "organized a stable government capable of maintaining public order;" to negotiate agreements with other powers to insure the islands' independence by neutralizing them; to admit free of duty into the United States until this policy has been fulfilled,
"all articles wholly the growth and product of the islands," in consideration of which agricultural implements and machinery, cotton and cotton manufactures, books and publications, and machinery for use in manufactures of all kinds, "wholly the growth and product of the United States," should be admitted free into the islands. An important feature of the provision is that it would not become operative until it had first been approved by the existing legislative authority of the Philippine government.

"The one long prayer of the Philippine people is for independence," declared Mr. Stone, "and if congress should make such a declaration as I have indicated it would serve as an inspiration to them to strive after progress to the utmost limit of their capacity. The tariff feature of the amendment would be in the nature of a reciprocal trade relation established by agreement."

He asserted his belief that during the proposed fifteen-year period there would be no dangerous increase of Philippine importations, and that, on the other hand, with free entry into the Philippines of the articles named,
our exports would exceed our imports, all the articles being of prime necessity to the Filipinos.

In its present form the tariff bill admits to free trade between the islands and the United States articles produced in the two countries, but places certain restrictions upon importations to this country of sugar, tobacco and cigars. Senator Stone contended that if the islands are to be treated as American territory and that if it is our policy to hold them permanently under our absolute sovereignty, then, as he construed the constitution, the products of the islands have the right to enter all American ports and into all American markets on terms of equality with the products of an state.

Referring to the proposal to subject to the ordinary duty on like articles from other foreign countries, importations of the restricted articles in excess of the amount prescribed Mr.
Stone said that "if the islands are American territory then congress, in my opinion, is without constitutional authority to discriminate against their products by levying tariffs upon them."

But, Mr. Stone argued, he did not believe the Philippines were a territory of the United States and for congress to so will to hold them forever would be an act of bad faith.

Unrestricted free trade with the islands was not approved by Mr.
Stone, under existing conditions. He voiced the fear that to so encourage American investment in Philippine industrial enterprises might beset future complications that would hinder or embarrass the final execution of our national policy. He also posed the entering into free trade relations without consulting the people of the islands, in the exercise of arbitrary power. Such act, he said, would comport with the idea of permanent sovereignty and would be inconsistent with the theory that the islands are foreign. "If we adopt policies calculated to encourage Americans to make investments in the islands," he said, "we will thereby build up powerful influences that may seek to thwart a separation. I cannot escape the conviction that it would be wiser to deal with the Philippines as a foreign country, temporarily under our occupacy."

While not opposing the section in question on protection grounds, Mr.

Stone admitted that he had been much impressed by the contention "that the free importation of sugar and tobacco from the Philippines would be disastrous to the growers of tobacco and sugar beets and cane in this country without a corresponding benefit to the consumer. He admitted that free trade might so alarm those interested in the development of the growing beet sugar industry in this country as to check its expansion. Furthermore he questioned the wisdom of encouraging the investment of American capital to build up industries of a foreign country to the detriment of our own.

Summarizing his reasons for not supporting the section of the bill as it stands, Mr. Stone said he could not do so because:

"First, if the islands are to be regarded as an American territory, then they are within the union, and their products should have free access to all our ports without restriction or limitation.

"Second, if our occupation of the islands is intended to be only temporary, and if it be our policy to surrender them to their own people, then we should pass no law which would tend to create such commercial or political conditions between the islands and this country as might delay or embarrass the final completion of our purpose; and

"Third, we are under no such obligations to the Philippine people as to make it our duty to support their government or to build up their industries at the expense of our own.

"I prefer to stand squarely upon the democratic platform and do for the Filipinos what we have already done for the Cubans—set them upon their feet and let them work out their own destiny."

NATURE OF EXPERT TESTIMONY.

Rude Interrupter of Justice Really Had Good Excuse.

Judge Frederick E. Crane of New York was complimented at a recent dinner on the modest simplicity with which he administers justice.

"Well, we are not omniscient, we judges," he replied, "though from our air you might often think we were.
When I begin to feel omniscient, I call to mind, as a corrective, Judge O'Brien of Dublin.

"Judge O'Brien was delivering his decision in a will contest. The testator had gone to America, and nothing had been heard of him for many years.
Hence he was supposed to be dead,
and they were dividing up his estate
according to the will he had left behind.

"Judge O'Brien, a very pompous man, read on and on.

"And it is plain to me," read Judge O'Brien, "that when the testator said he bequeathed this farm and appurtenances to Bridget O'Hoolahan, by appurtenances he meant all that portion marked A and colored green on the plan."

"You're a liar!" shouted a voice
from the rear of the court.

"Arrest that man!" stuttered the judge.

"And the man, a thin old fellow,
was dragged struggling before the bar.

"How dare you, sir? Who are you?"
Judge O'Brien demanded.

"Ofm the testator!" was the reply, in a scornful Irish-American accent."

Some interesting facts about the swallow have been given by M.
Fischer Sigwart before the Swiss Society of Natural Sciences. In May, 1908, a swallow was captured in the canton of Lucerne, which bore on its neck a little tube in which was a note
written in Spanish.

Inquiries were made and it was found that this swallow had sojourned in 1907 at Vilabertran, in the province of Barcelona, near the house of a peasant, who had attached the note on August 25 of that year.

This same swallow nested in the canton of Lucerne in 1908.
The peasant of Vilabertran believed that he had attached the tube to one of the old birds, but it was in reality
one of the young that he had captured.

This confirms the opinion of M.
Fischer Sigwart that adults always return to nest in the same place where they made their first nest, but that young do not return to the place where they first saw the light, but choose other localities to make their nests.

This swallow then was hatched and was captured the first time in Spain and in autumn migrated to Africa. In the spring of 1908 it returned to Europe. Possibly it went to Spain first, for it did not reach Switzerland until May, but it was in Switzerland that it built its nest, not in Spain, and without doubt, if it lives it will return to Switzerland this spring of 1909.

TRAPPED IN FOLDING BED

Man Dead and Wife Almost Before
Son Could Extricate Them.

New York, April 20.—The folding bed accident, which used to be common some years ago before the patent beds were as well constructed as now, caused the death of James F.
Maher, a feather curler, in Williamsburg yesterday.

During the night the bed began to rise
as if pushed by an unseen hand, pinning both Maher and his wife, despite their struggles and efforts to relieve themselves.

A son who was sleeping on the floor above heard his parents' cries, and ran to their assistance, but before he could extricate them Maher expired.
Mrs. Maher was taken out unconscious. She is little the worse for the experience.

Know What a Want Ad Is

It's a mistake to think that want ads are only used by

DOG SAVES A LOST BOY

FATHER DYING, 3-YEAR-OLD SON STARTS THROUGH WOODS FOR MEDICAL AID.

WAS ACCOMPANIED BY PETS ON THE TRIP

Bulldog Stops Judge Passing by and Leads Him to Exhausted Baby—Would Have Perished if Not Soon Located.

New York, April 20. — Friends mourning with the widow of Joel T. Biggs, chief engineer of the battleship Connecticut, who died of pneumonia Saturday, in his home on Flushing avenue, Jamaica have learned of perils of which Erwin Biggs, 3 years old, encountered in efforts to aid his dying father, perils which nearly cost the child's life. Numb from exposure and overwhelmed by terror, the boy was rescued at night from the woods where he was hopelessly entangled in the undergrowth.

Biggs returned from the battleship cruise around the world without mishap. Soon after the battleship fleet returned he suffered an injury to his head and came home on a furlough. Pneumonia developed a week ago. Erwin, a sturdy little chap for his age, saw his mother's grief and sought to comfort her.

"Winney get a doctor man," he announced Saturday, as he put on his coat and hat.

Mrs. Biggs, harassed by anxieties, paid little attention to Erwin as he left the house, accompanied by his pets and companions, a bull dog and a Newfoundland puppy. He trudged, unseen by anyone who knew him, to the woods which outskirts the City Training School for Teachers.

When night fell the child was in the heart of the woods and lost. The search for a doctor had exhausted him and he was disheartened by failure. His face and hands, scratched and bleeding, told of his struggles in the undergrowth before he collapsed. He was changed from his father's first assistant, daring anything, to a very little boy, walling in the dark for his mother.

The Newfoundland puppy trotted back home and stood whining at the door. Mrs. Biggs could not understand why Erwin had not returned, but so-laced herself with the thought that he was safe with neighbors.

Instinct, perhaps, told the bulldog that his little master, walling in the thicket, needed help. Erwin said later that the faithful animal stood for a time, then licked his hand and departed. The child, left alone, increased his cries.

County Judge Burt J. Humphreys, of Queens, was walking near the edge of the woods, when the dog ran toward him with manifestations of delight. The dog led him to within the sound of the lost child's voice. It came from far back in the woods. The dog bounded forward as Judge Humphrey advanced, unmistakably indicating that he would lead the way through the tangle.

The cries grew fainter as Judge Humphrey plunged through the underbrush and the briars and he trusted entirely to the dog. It disappeared a few moments later, indicating Mr. Collins' future has not been determined upon. He has two good offers, one of which he will accept.

Guided in this way, Judge Humphrey found the child, weak from exposure and exhaustion, and so terrified he scarcely could whisper. After disengaging the vines which held the boy, Judge Humphrey carried him to the Humphrey home, and, after being bathed, warmed and fed by Mrs. Humphrey, the child was questioned as she cuddled him before an open fire. All that she could get from him was that his name was "Winny Pigs." The euphony of the child's pronunciation eventually led to his identification, and Mrs. Biggs was notified that her boy was found.

WILL CONTINUE THE BUSINESS

Judge Dalby Buys John T. Collins' Interest in Collins Furniture Co.

Through a deal consummated this morning the Collins Furniture and Carpet Co., announced to retire from business, will be continued. The new arrangement retires Mr. John T. Collins, who sold his interest in the business to his associate, Judge J. N. Dalby, who, with his two sons, Roy and Walter, will conduct the store in the future. This store was to have opened a closing out sale tomorrow to wind up its affairs, but instead the Messrs. Dalby will inaugurate a dissolution sale, with a view to clearing out all old stock to make arrangements for needed alterations in the rooms and for the reception of new stock.

Judge Dalby, in speaking of the change said he had lived in Sedalia thirty-six years, and wanted to continue to reside here, and, seeing an opportunity for himself and sons, decided that the business just purchased looked good to him, hence the decision to buy Mr. Collins' interests and continue the store.

Judge Dalby's long residence and good citizenship in Sedalia will doubtless and should carry weight with the store's future, now that he controls it.

Mr. Collins' future has not been determined upon. He has two good offers, one of which he will accept.

RUMBLINGS OF THE RAIL

WORK IN NINETY DAYS ON ELECTRIC LINE FROM CABOOL TO ROLLA.

COACH CAB AND CABOOSE ITEMS

Matters of Interest Picked Up From Various Sources For the Benefit of Democrat-Sentinel Readers.

Within ninety days the promoters of the new electric line from Cabool to Rolla, touching the towns of Licking, Houston and Raymondville, which is to be backed by Kansas City and St. Louis capital, expect to have all the capital necessary to be able to begin work. Citizens of the various towns which the new electric line will touch have been asked to subscribe $250,000 of the bonds of the company.

Kansas City and St. Louis capitalists are promoting as many as a half dozen lines in South Missouri, and it is thought that within two years every town of any importance in the Ozarks, which is now without transportation facilities, will have an electric freight and passenger carrying line.

Engineer Prevents Wreck.

Engineer Hawkins, of Springfield, saved the Frisco's Southwestern limited train from going into the ditch at Golden City, forty miles north of Springfield, Sunday night.

When Hawkins saw the switch lamp in the yards at Golden City was not burning he applied the brakes with such suddenness as to almost throw the coaches from the track. When the train came to a standstill it was discovered that the switch point had been broken off and the lamps turned.

It is believed the persons who tampered with the switch were bent on robbery. The train was south bound from Kansas City to Birmingham and carried a large number of passengers and more valuables in the express car than usual.

Train Ran Into a Washout.

A local freight on the Grand Trunk railroad going to Grand Rapids from Grand Haven, Mich., ran into a washout a mile east of Fuller station at 5:30 o'clock Monday morning, and three of the crew were caught under the wreckage of the train and instantly killed. The dead: William Stoltz, engineer. John Runke, fireman. Fred Finn, brakeman. Conductor Stevens was seriously injured and taken to Butterworth hospital.

The bodies could not be released from the debris until a wreck train arrived on the scene.

Freight Ran 27.6 Miles an Hour.

A remarkably fast freight run was made Sunday on the Missouri Pacific between Osawatomie, Kas., and St. Louis via Kansas City, says the Kansas City Journal.

Although the run was 243 miles long it was made in twelve hours and 27 minutes, not counting stops, or an average of 27.6 miles an hour, which railroaders recognize as extraordinary time for a train of twenty-five cars of stock and five of meat.

The ordinary time for such a train between Kansas City and St. Louis is about thirteen hours, but Osawatomie is sixty-one miles farther than from here to the Mound City.

McCrone's Bond Is $500.

Information was received here today that J. J. McCrone, who is awaiting preliminary examination for burglarizing an M. K. & T. merchandise car, is related to a well known Kansas City detective.

McCrone's bond has been fixed by Judge Clark at $500, and yesterday the prisoner wrote to his Kansas City relative to come here and get him out of the trouble.

It is probable that on account of his relative McCrone's case will be dealt with mildly.

Good Place for the Receipts.

The Capital this morning says that the Sedalia theater receipts for "Madam Butterfly" last night were $1200. SALOON THOUGHT NO. 125.

Mr. Anamosa, our representative, is, in our opinion, one of the most aggressive enemies against the temperance cause that ever went to Jefferson City from any county. In every instance he has not only "handed it to us" in grand shape, but he has been one of the most aggressive and arrogant enemies with which we have had to contend. We did not expect him to consider us but we had just rights to expect more reasonable consideration at his hands.

The Pemberton-Grimes bill was nothing but this, and put to him as we interpret the bill: Do you believe the people of Pettis county (including Sedalia) should have the right to all vote on the liquor question at one time, and if they cast a majority against the saloon they must close? He voted NO. He means to say that people in the county MUST HELP PAY THE CRIMINAL COSTS FOR THE WORK OF THE SALOON IN Sedalia, and they have no recourse at the ballot box at all.

When it came to the "Hawkins Bill," which amends the present law, changing the vote of cities of 2,500 to 10,000 voting separately (leaving Sedalia WET) he voted for this measure, in our opinion, throwing "sop" to the DRYs.

When it came to the Prohibition amendment, which was simply this: Do you think the people of the state have a right to vote on the question in the state? And he again voted NO. In other words, he denies us the right of voting. In other words, DISFRANCHISES us. He says by his vote that the people have no right to vote on this matter, and cannot enjoy the privilege of true expression as he enjoyed when he was elected.

He tries to "square" himself by pleading with other representatives to vote WITH HIM, that Pettis county is DRY, and Sedalia is WET, and he does not want to see "a fringe of saloons on the county line around Pettis county," while his actions seems plainly to demonstrate that he could place a keg of beer and a barrel of bourbon in every home in Pettis county, if he could.

The truth of the matter is, the dry majority in the county 366, with 1,195 votes not cast. The WET vote in Sedalia is 848, with 82 not voting, if the "stay at home" votes out, city is the same as in the previous pole. The entire county is wet, including Sedalia's vote, 482 majority. He evidently is afraid to give us an opportunity to get the 1,195 which would be done if we could get an expression of the entire county on this matter, just as was given HIM, when he was elected representative for the county.

Senator Hall, from this county, may NOT be for these measures either, but it should be remembered that he is acting the part of a considerate man and fully realizes he was not sent to give ear to the saloons alone.

THE DRYs.

CATTLE DYING FOR WATER

Conditions in West Texas Are Becoming Alarming.

Fort Smith, Texas, April 20.—Cattle are dying in West Texas by the score because they cannot get grass or water. Conditions became alarming only a week or ten days ago.

Up until that time the herds had been holding their own. They were gathering a little subsistence here and there and managing to find enough water in the creek bottoms to sustain life. But about ten days ago both grass and water were exhausted, and the cattle were unable to live.

The affected area does not embrace all of West Texas by any means. No such conditions prevail in the Panhandle nor in the Brownsville country. But in all the territory between the drought has reached a critical stage in so far as the cattle are concerned.

CALLED HALT ON HADLEY

ATTORNEY GENERAL MAJOR IS ENDORSED BY THE DEMO-CRATIC PARTY.

FRIENDS OF GOVERNOR LITTLE TO SAY

The Controversy Between the Chief Executive and State's Legal Representative Attracting Wide Attention.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

Jefferson City, Mo., April 20.—It is the opinion of most of the democratic members of the legislature that Attorney General Major was both democratic and timely in calling a halt on the usurpation of authority vested by the constitution in the state's chief law officer, and which Governor Hadley seemed so bent on doing. For the sake of harmony among the state officials, General Major waited longer than he would otherwise have done to declare that he and not Governor Hadley was in charge of Missouri's law department.

The ringing declaration of the attorney general to this effect has been one of the principal topics of discussion among politicians and others here for several days. Democrats, without exception endorse both the policy and the motive of General Major, while the most insistent of the Hadley men have not much to say. The action of the attorney general in breaking from the course of the governor came as the fitting end to a series of events that caused most of General Major's close friends to say that it was inevitable.

As a member of the state board of equalization Governor Hadley attempted to force his own views concerning taxation through that body, and was only prevented by the votes of the attorney general, the state auditor and the secretary of state, all democrats, and all vitally opposed to his views. This division happened not once, but several times. Had the plans of the governor prevailed, the whole system of taxation which has been in force in Missouri from the time of the birth of its statehood would have ensued and the bitterest feelings would have come into every community.

Macon county's case, with its fraudulent alleged debt of over $1,000,000 is a fair sample of what the governor would have caused had he had his way with the other members of the equalization board. He not only wanted to raise the valuation of lands in Macon county, so that a debt conceived in fraud over forty years ago, and for which not one cent of value was ever intended to be given could be paid, but he boldly stated that he welcomed an appeal to the federal courts in order that the right of the board to raise, as well as equalize, taxes might be forever determined. The action of the United States district court at St. Louis in refusing to take cognizance of the matter was the third illustration within the past few weeks of the fact, contrary to the governor's own opinion, that he, like a king of old, is not the state.

The whole truth of it is that there was never another administration quite like this. In his speech accepting the United States senatorship, Senator Stone was prophetic. He spoke then of the apparent purpose of the republicans to tax everything that could be brought from the air above or the earth below, and it has been proven that he was entirely correct.

There are two and only two great controlling forces controlling Governor Hadley and those who follow his lead. One is to tax the globe and the fullness thereof, and the other is to create new commissions by the score, all to be filled by politicians of the governor's choosing. In some of the proposed boards the plans of the governor and his co-workers are rather skillfully veiled. But under every one of them, if one seeks, will be found the desire for more power and for more taxes wrung from the people with which to pay for the authority, which always costs.

Most of the metropolitan papers represented here have not told one tithe of the truth concerning the movements of the administration, and for this reason there are seemingly few who have a clear idea of what is being attempted.

Seeking to make a compromise with the railroads for his political aggrandizement was only equaled by his efforts to unite his strength with the owners of the Missouri and Mississippi railroad lands, for the reported extravagances of his administration will have to be met in either some way detrimental to the people or state employees and others will have to continue to go unpaid. Hunger for power and the apparent disregard of the money that comes from the taxpayers of the state are the dominating characteristics of the present governor.

Democrats in the legislature and others familiar with the facts as they exist mean to let the voters of the state know this, and feel sure that then the mistaken popularity on which Hadley rode into office will subside, until his name will excite no more interest or admiration than that of any of the long line of republican candidates for the governorship, all of whom were just as worthy, but not so lucky as Hadley. They believe with reason that the Hadley press bureau

Race Record, 2:15 1/4

This handsome son of Jackdaw 14297 is one of the greatest trotting prospects that ever came out of the west. With 60 days training last season he won 5 of the starts he made; and his present record is no measure of his speed. He also will make a light season at a very reasonable fee. Individually he is a very handsome horse, 15.2 hands high, weighs 1000 pounds, with good disposition sound. If you want to breed to one of the classiest young trotters, see this one. He was foaled 1903 and raced last year, and, barring accident, he will trot in 2:10 or better this year.

SNELL CASE TO BE RETRIED

Rehearing Having Been Refused, Son Makes New Move.

Springfield, Ill., April 20.—Defeated in his effort to secure a rehearing of his case in the supreme court, which had reversed the decision of Judge Philbrick in the circuit court of De Witt county, holding that the will of his father, Millionaire Thomas Snell, of Clinton, leaving most of his property to Mabelle Snell McNamara, a niece, was invalid.

Richard Snell today, through his lawyer, L. W. Ingham, of Clinton, will ask the supreme court to issue the final order in the case so that the case can be tried at once in the De Witt county circuit court.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is due to an excess of uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, which gets into the circulation because of weak kidneys, constipation, indigestion, and other physical irregularities which are usually considered of no importance. Nothing applied externally can ever reach the seat of this trouble; the most such treatment really adds to the acidity of the blood, and this acid therefore continually grows more acid and vitiated. Then instead of nourishing the different muscles and joints, keeping them in a normally supple and elastic condition, it gradually hardens and stiffens them by drying up the natural oils and fluids. Rheumatism can never be cured until the blood is purified. S. S. S. thoroughly cleanses and renovates the circulation by neutralizing the acids and driving the cause from the system. It strengthens and invigorates the blood so that instead of a sour, weak stream, depositing acid and painful corrosive matter in the muscles, joints and bones, it nourishes the entire body with pure, rich blood and permanently cures Rheumatism. S. S. S. contains no potash, alkali or other harmful mineral, but is made entirely of roots, herbs and barks of great purifying and tonic properties. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

GREAT NATIONAL SPORT

REMINISCENCES OF THE GAME OF BASEBALL AS SEEN BY GEORGE BARNUM.

NOT MUCH DIFFERENT FROM 25 YRS. AGO

There Are Today as Many Slow Footed Fielders as There Were Then —Is Betting and Base Running Better?

George Barnum, a baseball fan and authority, writes of the game, past and present, as follows:

That there is not any material difference in the outfield play now as compared to twenty-five years ago must be apparent to every lover and follower of the game. Here again it is a question of individual excellence. There are today as many slow-footed fielders as there were then, and it is comparatively useless to compare any one against the other. There were outfielders who studied the characteristics of the opposing batsmen, and, knowing the direction in which they would be apt to hit, moved out in or over, as necessity demanded.

There were as many brilliant sensational catches and throws from the outfield then as now, and, as a matter of fact, there was one play made by Evans, right fielder for Troy and Cleveland, that I haven't seen any right fielder make in recent years, and that is, throwing out a man at first on what was originally a base hit to right.

This play, however, was one in no sense general, for I have seen it but once or twice, aside from Evans—once by Sam Thompson in a game umpired in Philadelphia, against Cleveland; and old "Ubbie" Hornung has thrown out many a base runner at the plate on a throw from a very deep field. Hence, I can't see how the outfield is played materially faster or better than then.

The next question is: "Is the batting and base running better?" I can't see how it is. We have our Wagners, Donlins, Osborns, Cobbs and McIntyres, but twenty-five years ago we had our Ewings, Ansons, Connors, Brouters, Burketts, Deacon Whites, Kellys, Delephantys, O'Neils and Thompsons.

To say that the batters of today are better, more scientific and skillful place hitters would imply that the pitching was easier to hit in those days than now.

This I do not believe, and that an old timer can hit a present day pitching star, let me remind you that old Sam Thompson helped out Hughie Jennings in Detroit last summer in an emergency call, and out of four times at the bat cracked out two smashing line hits, one a single and the other a triple. Not bad for an old timer, is it? Speaks rather well for the batters of twenty-five years ago, doesn't it?

And as for place hitting, laying down the ball John Ward, Kelly, Ewing, Latham, Jennings, McGraw and many more were quite as good as those of the present day, and if I am not mistaken, the best place hitter of today, Willie Keeler, got his inspiration and was taught his lesson by these same men.

John McGraw was as good as any man I ever saw at this angle of the game, and, as a matter of fact, that Baltimore team's methods are practically the methods used by the Chicago Cubs today, and Chicago is profiting by the lessons taught by Kelly, McGraw, Robinson and Jennings.

As for base running, the base runners were quite as hearty and speedy as they are today. I have only to mention such names as Ward, Ed Williamson, Kelly, Latham, Hamilton, Fogarty, Welch, Griffin and Ned Hanlon to emphasize my opinion that there isn't so much difference in this department of the game between now and then.

Welcome Words To Women

If, you are an intelligent thinking woman, in need of relief from weakness, nervousness, pain and suffering, then it means much to you that there is one tried and true honest square-deal medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, sold by druggists for the cure of woman's ills. The makers of

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

for the cure of weak, nervous, run-down, over-worked, debilitated, pain-racked women, knowing this medicine to be made up of ingredients, every one of which has the strongest possible endorsement of the leading and standard authorities of the several schools of practice, are perfectly willing, and in fact, are only too glad to print, as they do, the formula, or list of ingredients, of which it is composed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper. Is this not a significant fact worthy of careful consideration?

Women use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription in preference to all other advocated medicines sold by druggists for their peculiar weaknesses and ailments because it is

THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol or habit-forming drugs, is not anything like advertised secret compounds or patent medicines.

THE ONE REMEDY for women devised by a regularly graduated physician of vast experience in woman's ailments and carefully adapted to her delicate organism.

THE ONE REMEDY good enough that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on its outside bottle-wrapper.

It's foolish—often dangerous to be over-persuaded into accepting a secret nostrum, in place of this time-proven medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Laxative for Women Free

There is a great difference in the purposes to which a laxative should be put. Tablets and pills, salts, etc., are usually violent purgatives or cathartics, and altogether too powerful for the average person.

A woman at all times needs only a mild laxative—in fact, none other is needed by anyone, weak or strong though they may be, for the object is simply to move the bowels, and if a gentle laxative will do it, what is the use of a violent one?

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin has earned a well-deserved vogue among women and children and old folks—people who must necessarily be careful of what they take. It is a liquid laxative tonic and admittedly the greatest stomach, liver and bowel remedy before the American people. The price is only 50 cents or $1 a bottle, as it comes in both sizes, and all druggists sell it. Its pleasant taste and gentle action make it an ideal remedy for women in constipation, torpid liver, sour stomach, sick headache, heartburn and such like digestive complaints. Its use for a short time will remove the trouble entirely so that future medication will be unnecessary. Its tonic properties build up the stomach and intestinal muscles so that they act naturally again. That this is so is the experience of many heads of families, like Mrs. Brannan, of Alvarado, Va. Mrs. K. L. Stout, of Louisville, Ky., and numerous others; in fact, way out in Williams, Cal., as Mrs. J. B. Blackmore, of that place, writes, the whole town seems to be using it.

If the remedy is new to you and you want to make a trial of it before buying, send your name to the doctor's address as below, and a free test bottle will be sent you. Then, if results are satisfactory you can buy it of your druggist.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 529 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

"I wish you would publish this statement," he said. "Mr. De Armond did not procure or recommend Mr. Tygard's pardon and was not consulted about it, and learned of it only as news. If he had had the opportunity he would have advised against pardonizing Tygard."

CARE OF CLOTHES

THEIR PROPER ADJUSTMENT IN THE CUPBOARD.

One of the Most Important of House-keeping Details—Cleaning Materials Should Always Be Kept on Hand.

A girl who cares properly for her clothes can make them last weeks longer and incidentally keep them looking better by brushing and hanging them, so they will not get unshapely. This treatment is especially necessary with directoire frocks, for, unless adjusted when not being worn, they soon take on an appearance of age.

No gown should be put away without a brushing. Dust, if allowed to remain in the weave, makes the material rusty. Mud also weakens the threads. As wet mud is almost impossible to remove, the garment spotted should be put on a hanger and left in a room where the air will strike it. Drying quickly, the mud must be removed with a brush that is not too stiff to wear the nap. Sometimes, when the dirt clings obstinately, it is well to rub the material together, for this loosens the particles without roughing the surface.

If there is a trimming of silk or

Chiffon or the stoutest material will take this and come forth from the rubbing like new. Lace of almost all kinds is better cleansed with soap and water, putting the collar down on a flat surface, with a towel beneath to absorb the soiled water. The brush, wet and soaped, is then run to and fro over the soil; the collar, rinsed by letting warm water run over it, is pulled into shape and hung up to dry in such a position as to allow the moisture to drip out and not down over the garment.

Sick headache, constipation and biliousness are relieved by King's Little Liver Pills. They cleanse the system. Do not gripe. Price 25c. Sold by the W. E. Bard Drug Co.

sat in, it should be wiped lightly with a bit of soft flannel. The drop skirt must also be brushed. The gown, then ready to be put away, should be placed on a hanger without a crease in the shoulders and with the skirt folds hanging as intended. In this arrangement the frock is placed in its closet. Those who live in apartments where lack of cupboards necessitates the use of boxes, plenty of tissue paper must be secured to stuff all dress folds and the body and sleeves. For, unless this is done, a show worn effect, most undesirable, will soon appear.

Hats would not look dingy by the middle of the season if they were freshened each time before being put away. Feathers should be shaken and quills wiped. Ribbons or other loops require brushing and patting to bring them into shape. These "aids" take but a moment and they make a decided difference in the wearing qualities. A bottle of gasoline or some cleansing fluid is indispensable to the girl who wants her clothes to look neat.

No dress collar, no matter how delicate the material, should be allowed to become soiled, and it is bound to, if not cared for properly. About every other time, after wearing, the edge should be wiped with a cleansing fluid, the latter applied with a piece of soft cloth.

Chiffon or the stoutest material will take this and come forth from the rubbing like new. Lace of almost all kinds is better cleansed with soap and water, putting the collar down on a flat surface, with a towel beneath to absorb the soiled water. The brush, wet and soaped, is then run to and fro over the soil; the collar, rinsed by letting warm water run over it, is pulled into shape and hung up to dry in such a position as to allow the moisture to drip out and not down over the garment.

Sick headache, constipation and biliousness are relieved by King's Little Liver Pills. They cleanse the system. Do not gripe. Price 25c. Sold by the W. E. Bard Drug Co.

MAY BE A ST. LOUISAN

Clothing on Body Found in Sea May Prove Clew.

London, April 20.—An inquest just held at Brighton discloses the fact that a body found floating in the sea may be that of an American.

The clothing bears the name of a St. Louis firm and the buttons are inscribed with the name of a Memphis firm. The cause of the drowning is not known.

A Tragedy.

"I saw a struggling poet to-day." "I object to the word 'struggling'; why should a poet always be called a struggling poet?"

"Well, this one was a struggling poet."

"Because he did not look prosperous, I presume. It is a well-known fact that a genius is always careless about his dress."

"None; this one was struggling because he did not stand near enough to the door when he presented his poem, and the editor caught him."—Houston Post.

Another Lesson from Nature.
"Young gentlemen," lectured the eminent instructor, "you are old enough now to put away the childish and trivial amusements that sufficed for you when you were younger. Learn a lesson from the reptiles. When they arrive at maturity they comport themselves with a certain dignity."

"It isn't so with the rattlesnake, professor," objected the young man with the bad eye. "The older he grows the more rattles he plays with."

will not long be so active as it has been lately. Then the collapse, like any other air machine with its gas gone, will come.

The differences on the rate question between General Major and the governor are clean cut, and, when known, admit of but one construction. Standing on the high ground that the law officer of the state can not compromise with anybody, when it involves a violation of the law, General Major took and held the position that he had no favors to give, or ask, of the railroads. The law which had started all the litigation was, he said, still in the courts, and it was only the duty of the transportation companies to continue to carry passengers, those who can not afford to purchase two thousand miles of mileage, as well as those who can, till the matter in dispute is finally adjudicated.

Governor Hadley contended for a compromise that would have allowed some people to ride for 2½ cents a mile, while the great majority would pay the old rate of 3 cents a mile. It was General Major's opinion at the conferences, and is still, that the railroads will not dare to restore the old passenger rate, and in the event that they do he makes no concealment of the fact that he will at once institute quo warranto proceedings to compel them to desist and to show cause why they should not be adjudged guilty of violating the anti-trust law. With him the railroads have no right to meet to agree upon any rate. With Governor Hadley they may meet to fix a rate that will be one-half cent per mile lower to about 2 per cent of the traveling public and 3 cents for the rest. The angle of separation is sharp, and political observers believe the governor is in for a campaign of explaining that will tax his energy.

Notice to Rock and Gravel Road Contractors.

All bids must be made on blanks obtained from the secretary.

Child Rescue Campaign.

Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant and Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick are among the leaders of the child rescue campaign which is now being carried on. The plan of this movement is to take children out of the institutions and find homes for them in private families.

There is a choice of several ways of taking a child into one's home. The child may be taken on a limited probation, after which it may be legally adopted, or it may be subject to only a limited adoption, which seems to mean giving it an education and a start in business when it reaches maturity. At the present time it is reported that there is a greater demand for little girls among families wishing to adopt children than for boys. During the past summer several little girls were sent to England by a New York institution and were adopted by well-to-do English families.

ANOTHER PAYNE JOKER

THOSE INTERESTED IN HOSIE-RY ARE URGED TO BE ON THE LOOKOUT.

TARIFF MAKERS WILL BEAR WATCHING

If the Payne Tariff Bill as Originally Prepared Should Pass It Would Cost Our Housewives Many Thousands of Dollars.

Special to the Democrat-Sentinel.

New York, April 20.—Supporting the senate finance committee in calling for no higher tariff tax on the cotton stockings which all Americans must buy, an army of half a million women is organized and waiting for final action at Washington in this city today.

Headed by officers of the Federation of Women's Clubs and the wives of many prominent New Yorkers, thousands of stenographers and shop
girls are joining with the housewives and mothers of this town to uphold the recommendation to the senate that the duties on these stockings be not raised for the sole benefit of a few manufacturers.

With the men of the labor and trade organizations here, these women declare that another trust in an every-day necessity will be created if congress should fail to accept the just judgment of its committee of senators.

That the working men and women in every section of this country are commending the senate proposal to do away with the additional tariff tax on stockings which the house was led to put in the Payne bill is shown by reports which have been today received at the headquarters of this movement here.

In striking out the proposed increase in duty against cotton stockings where no higher tariff on the silk stockings of the wealthy was called for, the senate committee has saved the measure from becoming rank class legislation, according to the consumers who are communicating to this city the sentiment of the people in their localities. Millions of constituents today stand ready to back up this decision if it is questioned further in congress or in conference committee, they declare.

To enrich and give a monopoly to one single family of manufacturers of the kind of stockings that all Americans buy would be the sole object of any move to shut out foreign competition, it is asserted by experts in the dry goods trade to whom the labor men and club women have appealed for information.

From an annual output of $27,233, 616 in 1900 domestic stocking manufacturers have extended their business till in 1908 they produced and sold over $55,000,000 worth of stockings, according to their own statement.

While they could adjust themselves to meet the conditions which these manufacturers have tried to have congress impose, the dry goods retailers declare, it would be the eighty million consumers of the United States who must be made to pay tribute to this trust.

Instead of the stockings which everybody can now buy for a quarter, inferior goods must be bought under the higher tariff, it is assured, or considerable advance in retail prices must be paid by the consumers.

Constant vigilance must be kept up by the American army of consumers until the tariff bill is made law, it is declared; for the danger of another Payne joker against hosiery is imminent.

THIS MAN SOLD "BOOZE"

Fined $1,500 and Given a Year in Jail for Bootlegging.

Macon, Mo., April 20.—One thousand dollar fine and a year in jail was the punishment imposed by a jury upon Rube Cooley for selling a half pint of whisky at Ardmore, and a similar verdict was returned against Cooley's partner, R. A. Hudson. The penalty is the maximum under the local option law.

Cooley and Hudson, when brought into court, demanded a jury and cross examined the witnesses themselves.
They had no lawyer, but have appealed their cases and will probably secure legal representatives next time they run against the buzz saw.

Circuit court begins this week and the criminal end of the docket is loaded up with liquor cases. In the basement of the new jail are three or four wagon loads of confiscated liquors to serve as evidence. The stuff was obtained during the sheriff's raids
among the mining camps.

As a result of the confiscations
those who wish to sell contraband cannot get credit for new supplies, and the "blind tiger" is almost out of business in the coal region of the county.
